Learning Hours:

Guided learning is work set by a tutor for students to undertake outside class contact time, which is subsequently assessed by a tutor. This includes the 50 treatment records

Guided learning hours for this course = 15 Contact Tuition hours = 15 Total learning hours = 30

Students are also expected to familiarise themselves with the course booklet, the videos of techniques and some of the course recommended reading material.

Teaching hours

The total hours which qualify as teaching include lunch and tea breaks. For example, a 9.30 am -5.00 pm day with an hour for lunch and half an hour of breaks counts as 7.5 hours' teaching. As students will talk about their work during breaks this is therefore counted as part of the learning experience.

Course completion: 12 months

Students must complete the course within 12 months from registering on a course. If students wish to complete the course after this time, the tutor and student will need to draw up a plan for further training and/or retaking exams.

Students who have postponed taking the practical assessment, or who need to retake this, must do so within 6 months from the end of the course.

Teaching/Learning Methods

Within the course there is an element of structured delivery that ensures students receive the basic theoretical knowledge and practical skills they require.

Students are expected to undertake some independent reading and complete home study assignments in order to achieve the learning outcomes. The treatment record requirement assumes that students will have access to clients with ranging needs in order to demonstrate the application of theory and knowledge to practice.

Generating Evidence for Seated Event Massage Course

Evidence of outcomes for the course is generated through a combination of formative and summative assessment techniques. These take the forms of; informal practical assessment, treatment records demonstrating diverse practise, practical examination, opportunities for discussion, debate and question and answer sessions.

The course is internally assessed by appropriate treatment records and informal and formal practical assessments.

Treatment records

Students must complete a written presentation of 10 treatments, to be completed and handed in on the advanced seated massage workshop.

We recommend that students consider the following:

Records should demonstrate treatments on as wide a range of clients as possible in terms of age, gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, physical conditions or emotional states, to demonstrate an ability to work with a range of clientele.

Using a variety of seated equipment and client positions to gain experience and confidence and demonstrate an ability to adapt treatments.

Forms will be provided for this purpose.

Please note: To preserve confidentiality clients must not be identifiable in treatment records.

Internal practical assessment

Students will be informally assessed by their tutor during their training.

Practical Examination

Students will be expected to give a 30-minute session to a fellow student or model provided by the tutor. This will include a brief consultation, treatment of 20 minutes and any aftercare advice required. Oral and written feedback will be given.

Candidates must achieve a pass in all assessed areas and will be expected to repeat any assignment or examination that falls below a pass. In such cases candidates shall be referred. Referrals should be completed within one year.
